

NORWEGIAN ARMED FORCES
Military Intelligence Battalion

NOR Long Range Reconnaissance

NORWEGIAN ARMED FORCES
Military Intelligence Battalion

Content

- Our Area of Operations
- Our patrols
- Planning
- Threats
- Concealment and camouflage
- Movement and mobility
- Field repairs
- Obstacles
- Questions

Our area of operation

- Northern Norway – “The high north”
- Arctic environment
- From mountainous steep coastal terrain to wide open plateaus
- Unstable weather and harsh conditions
- 50 – 500km from own troops

NORWEGIAN ARMED FORCES
Military Intelligence Battalion

Our patrols

- Selection
- Basic LRRP education and training
- SME in patrols
 - NSOCM (Nato Special Operations Medic)
 - JTAC
 - ML (Mountain Leader)
 - Comms
 - Sniper

Planning – some things to consider

- Packing – how long, what type of mission?
 - Navigation: challenges with GPS
 - Comms: challenges with TACSAT and HF
 - Batteries in winter
 - Blood and drugs in winter
-
- What is the threat, how do we stay hidden?

Threats

- Elevated/airborne sensors
 - Optical, thermal, electromagnetic
 - UAV, aircrafts, satellites
- Enemy patrols
 - Counter reconnaissance and light infantry
- 3rd party
- Climate and environment

Concealment and camouflage

- Artificial vs natural camouflage
- Thermal signature
- Natural camouflage always wins!
- Movement vs static
- In winter:
 - Hard to hide tracks in snow completely
 - Easy to dig into snow and «disappear»
 - Snow is the biggest friend and enemy

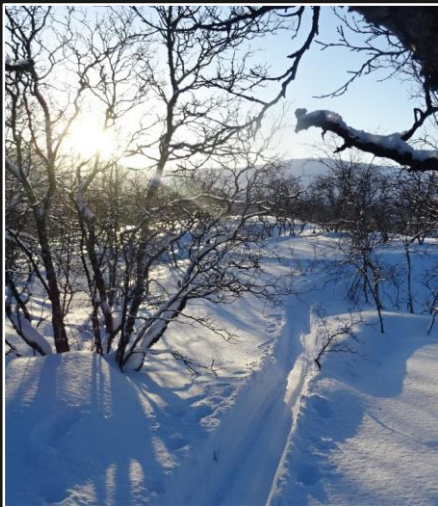

NORWEGIAN ARMED FORCES
Military Intelligence Battalion

Take advantage of the weather

- Move when other forces are not moving
- Move in darkness/whiteout/fog
- Move and establish OP right before a snowfall or heavy wind
- Stay static and hidden in good weather

Movement and mobility

- By foot/skis
 - How long and how far?
 - Hydration
- By LTV/snowmobile
 - How long and how far?
 - Cachés
- Hydration in the winter
 - 3 Strategies

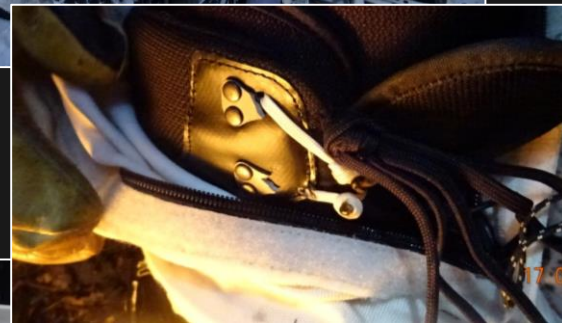

NORWEGIAN ARMED FORCES
Military Intelligence Battalion

Field repairs

- Field repair kit
 - One for moving by foot/skis
 - One for moving by snowmobile
 - Spare parts?
- Improvise and make it work!

Obstacles

- Rivers & unsafe ice
- Mountainous terrain
 - Glaciers
 - Cliffs
 - Avalanches
- Unexpected storms
 - Challenges with bad visibility (whiteout)

NORWEGIAN ARMED FORCES

Military Intelligence Battalion

Questions?
