Announcement of NODEFIC 3-days online digital trainings within United Nations Logistics (UNLOG and UNCOE), International Movement Planning and NATO logistics – 2024

1 Background

The increased activity within international peacekeeping operations requests a higher level of education and preparation of the officers who will take part in the operations. NORDEFECO has for many years hosted courses for staff officers, logistics officers, military observers, and military police. The courses are part of the NORDEFECO training program.

During 2023 more than 320 participants has joined our online digital trainings.

2 Discussion

Norwegian Defence International Centre, NODEFIC, will still offer our attractive advanced logistics courses with the same high quality of both content, syndicate work and facilitators.

NODEFICs pre-study package and our three logistic 3 days online digital trainings are all full-fledged courses and give the participants an introduction to all levels and areas of United Nations logistics, International Movement Planning and NATO logistics.

The online digital training, together with the pre-study package is a stand-alone course that will give the participants an understanding level of knowledge – being able to use the knowledge to explain logistic concepts or structures.

The aim of the pre-study package is to create a basic logistic knowledge level before the online digital training. Please go to our new website www.nodefic.org and follow the link: Pre-Study.

The 3 days online digital training together with our 6 days practical and function-oriented training conducted in Oslo, Norway will prepare the participants to serve as:
